Grant Improves Water System in Village of West Farmington

The village of West Farmington (Trumbull County) will receive a grant to improve the village water system. The grant is from the Community Development Block Grant, Residential Public Infrastructure Program.

The village will receive a $414,400 grant to construct a wastewater collection and treatment system and help 50 households connect to the new system. A total of 184 households will benefit from the project.

“Efficient and safe water systems are integral to providing a strong quality of life for Ohioans and better positions our communities for job creation,” said David Goodman, director of the Ohio Development Services Agency.

The Community Development Block Grant Program is administered by the Ohio Development Services Agency’s Office of Community Development.
